CURRENT HISTORY

January 2009

Vol. 108, No. 714

CONTENTS

GLOBAL PROGRESS REPORT, 2009

- 3 A Panic Made in America Alan Sorensen
The state of the world at the start of a new year is precarious. For many, the financial crisis has discredited US-style capitalism. Can Barack Obama restore his nation's standing?
- 4 How Is the World Doing?
Current History's annual report card on international trends.
- 9 We Are All Nation Builders Now Lucien Crowder
The West has learned that stabilizing trouble spots requires more than killing bad guys. Illiberal regimes, for their part, may discover the limits of growth-based legitimacy.

ECONOMY

- 14 Bad Credit History Barry Eichengreen
Everyone knows that policy errors exacerbated the Great Depression. So what is stopping the world's policy makers from getting their act together this time?

POLITICS

- 20 The Late, Great Globalization Harold James
Economic folly has ended an era of financially driven globalization. The political repercussions may last a long time, and they will not be pleasant.

RESOURCES

- 26 Navigating the Energy Transition Michael T. Klare
A few decades from now, renewable energy will fuel the world. Getting there from here, however, will be fraught with crisis and conflict.

SECURITY

- 33 The New Disarmament Discussion Sharon Squassoni
When Henry Kissinger, among others, calls in The Wall Street Journal for efforts aimed at global nuclear disarmament, you know the proliferation debate has shifted.

DEVELOPMENT

- 39 Does the Doha Round Matter? Kimberly Ann Elliott
If rich nations devalue the World Trade Organization's role in governing trade, the poorest and most vulnerable countries will suffer the most.

BOOKS

- 44 It's Not Easy Being Green William W. Finan Jr.
Thomas Friedman's latest book characteristically overreaches. Still, it is hard to argue with his assertion that the planet is on a path that is environmentally unsustainable.

THE MONTH IN REVIEW

- 45 November 2008
An international chronology of events in November, country by country, day by day.
- 47 2008 Current History Index

Continuity we can believe in: Why Obama's foreign policy may be more like Bush's than anyone expects.

Gen. David Petraeus talks to FP about picking his battles.

COVER: CHARLES OMMANNEY/(CONTACT PRESS IMAGES)

- 8 LETTERS Food fight ■ Speaking the gospel ■ Small truths ■ Questioning intervention ■ Fashion statement.
- 28 IN BOX India's new deal ■ Branded ■ Grand theft solar ■ Epiphanies from Tony Blair ■ An Rx for Chinese health ■ Plus, FP tests your knowledge of the world.

THINK AGAIN

- 32 Climate Change Act now, we're told, if we want to save the planet from a climate catastrophe. Trouble is, it may be too late. The science is settled, and the damage has already begun. The only question that remains is whether we will stop playing political games and embrace the few imperfect options we have left. By Bill McKibben

PRIME NUMBERS

- 40 The Nuclear Option After a decades-long slowdown, nuclear power once again dominates the global energy debate. But it will not be the miracle cure for energy dependence or global warming that proponents promise. By Charles D. Ferguson and Michelle M. Smith

FEATURES

- 42 How to Win a Losing War Two years ago, a controversial military manual rewrote U.S. strategy in Iraq. Now, its simple, powerful—even radical—tenets must be applied to the far different conflict in Afghanistan. By Nathaniel C. Fick and John A. Nagl
 - Plus, the FP Interview with Gen. David Petraeus.
- 52 The Making of George W. Obama The 2008 U.S. election was all about change. But that's not what we're going to get on foreign policy, says the longtime speechwriter for Condoleezza Rice. Instead of a radical departure from Bush, we're likely to end up with a lot more of the same. And that may be just what we need. By Christian Brose
- 56 The Other Housing Crisis Why can't Israel and the Palestinians make peace? There are many reasons, but the facts on the ground point to a simple answer: It's the settlements, stupid. By Gershom Gorenberg

AFTER THE CRASH

- 62 The Worst Is Yet to Come Five economists whose prophetic warnings went unheeded preview the next stage of the global financial crisis.
 - WARNING: MORE DOOM AHEAD By Nouriel Roubini
 - A LETHAL SHAKEOUT By Stephen S. Roach
 - GOOD LUCK, BARACK By David M. Smick
 - ARE WE THERE YET? By Robert J. Shiller
 - WATCH THE DOLLAR By Dean Baker

70 Faith in the Market The champions of Islamic finance believe that if Islamic principles had been applied to Wall Street, the economic crisis never would have happened. The handful of men who look to the Koran to decide which mortgages, car loans, and credit cards are spiritually sound are cashing in. But critics smell a con. By Carla Power

76 The Poor Man's Burden The Great Depression changed the way we think about the poor. Now, in the midst of another meltdown, the fear that shocked us into depending on the government to fix poverty is spreading once again—and threatening to undo many of the gains we've made. By William Easterly

THE FP INDEX

82 The Think Tank Index It's no accident that Barack Obama plucked his transition chief from a think tank. The world's idea factories are charged with brainstorming solutions to everything from global warming to Wall Street's implosion to terrorism. In the first index of its kind, FP ranks the world's best think tanks. By James McGann

REVIEWS

86 IN OTHER WORDS India's Chinese Wall By Jeffrey N. Wasserstrom
▪ FP's new Early Read.

92 NET EFFECT Predicting conflict ▪ The $100 laptop, for $2,600 ▪ User-generated geography ▪ The bull market for cybercrime ▪ Plus, finance blogger Barry Ritholtz's best sources for chart porn.

MISSING LINKS

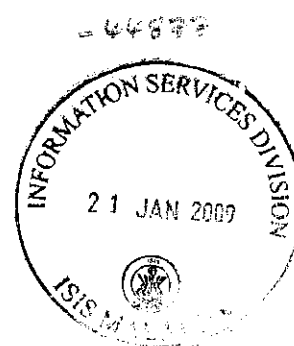

96 An Intellectual Bailout We must add another field to the list of those in need of rescuing—economics itself. By Moisés Naím
